PEACE DOOR OPEN, SAYS BALFOUR

RUSSIA ARMS; FIGHTS HUNS

Battle Off Belgium

FOE WOULD BE GIVEN HEARING

Peace Overtures Assured Serious Consideration; Debate in Commons

By FLOYD MacGRIFF, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, May 16.—If any belligerent representative desired seriously to put forward peace proposals they would be dealt with in full confidence with the allies, Foreign Minister A. J. Balfour announced in the House of Commons today during debate upon the peace letter which Emperor Charles of Austria sent to Prince Sixtus shortly more than a year ago.

Mr. Balfour's statement was called forth by a question put by Walter Runciman, former president of the Board of Trade, regarding the Austrian Emperor's letter.

PEACE DOOR OPEN.

Former Premier Asquith lauded Mr. Balfour's opportune statement, saying it was to the satisfaction of the world at large that the British had not closed the door to any overtures towards an honorable peace.

He added that there had not been nor should there be any contraction nor extension of the allies' war aims and purposes.

Replying to a question put by H. L. Guthwaite as to whether Prince Sixtus of Austria had twice visited England in connection with Emperor Charles' peace proposals, whether the Prince had been in communication with the Premier and whether the Premier had informed Sixtus that peace proposals had been made, and if so, on what date, Chancellor A. Bonar Law stated that the subject was not one which could be dealt with by question and answer.

SECRECY IMPOSED.

Mr. Runciman asked if any of the allied statesmen except Baron Sonnino (of the Italian cabinet), had been consulted and whether anything had been communicated to the United States.

Mr. Balfour replied that the letter had been conveyed without permission to communicate it to anyone besides the King and Premier.

The government's course regarding the proposed international socialist meeting at Stockholm was not affected by the letter, it was stated.

It is useless to discuss peace terms now because the peace aims for which the allies are fighting have already been announced in unmistakable language on both continents, Lord Curzon stated today before the Foreign Press Association. He added:

"First, the peace must be honorable; second, it must ensure the security of the world and future generations from devastating wars."

Lord Curzon is a member of the war cabinet.

Germans Uneasy Over Steady Flow of U. S. Men to France

By International News Service.

Paris, May 16.—The steady arrival of American troops in France is causing great uneasiness in Germany. Following the admission in the Berlin Reichstag that it is not known how many troops the Americans already have in Europe, Colonel Gaedke, the military critic of the Vorwaerts, says that Americans may yet play the most important part in the great battle. Gaedke also admits the wonderful tenacity with which British and French troops have defended their positions.

ENEMY FOE HELD AS BOOTLEGGER ON COMMON

Peter Messemer, who is registered as a German enemy alien, is accused not only of giving intoxicating liquor to a man in war uniform, but also of doing this on Boston's historic Common.

This is the first case here of an enemy alien being charged with violation of the law against giving liquor to men in uniform. Messemer, who lives in Allston and is a Boston & Albany mechanic, was held in $500 for the Federal Grand Jury today by Federal Commissioner Hayes.

Patrolman Tracy, who made the arrest, said that he came up just after Messemer had passed a bottle of liquor to a sailor in uniform on the Common and that Messemer snatched the bottle away and broke it on the asphalt. Tracy picked up pieces of the bottle for evidence.

Charles Johnson of East Weymouth and Thomas Kelley of East Cambridge were also held in $500 each today on charges of giving liquor to a sailor in Dewey square.

MOBILIZE GERMAN FLEET

Concentration at Kiel May Forecast Dash to Sea; Heavy Firing Heard in Kent

London, May 16. — The entire German fleet is reported to be concentrating at Kiel.

The foregoing cablegram is confirmatory of a cablegram received by the International News Service early in the week stating that the German fleet was expected to become active when the offensive on land was resumed. Kiel is the chief German naval base.

By International News Service.

London, May 16.—Heavy gun fire, which raged for several hours last night along the Franco-Belgian coast, could be heard along the Kentish coast.

The concussions were violent and the incessant roar was accompanied by vivid flashes.

Large crowds lined the cliffs along the Kent coast listening to the cannonade and watching the flares.

Amsterdam, May 16.—Gunfire was heard off the Belgian coast on Wednesday. It is said that allied airplanes were again bombing the closed submarine base at Zeebrugge and that the firing came from high angle guns.

The German military authorities compel civilians to work helping to unbottle the harbors of Ostend and Zeebrugge and to clear up the wreckage caused at Ghent and Bruges during the recent raids.

Belgians arriving in Amsterdam declare that the Germans are strengthening the fortifications of the submarine bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge. The Germans are bringing reinforcements of marines and guns.

Liberty Loan Committee Thanks the American

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

The results of the Third Liberty Loan Campaign in the New England States are most encouraging, and this committee desires to express to you its hearty appreciation of your co-operation. The editorial support which you have given us, and your co-operation in securing advertising for the loan have permitted us thoroughly to acquaint the people of New England with the desirability of purchasing these bonds. The result shows that more than a million and a half of bonds were sold in this territory.

Other loans will follow when it is necessary for the government to raise more money. May we ask your continued co-operation between now and the Fourth Loan? You can do much good by calling the attention of your readers to the desirability of considering the purchase of Liberty Bonds not as optional, but as obligatory. The degree with which people recognize this will secure a sale of the bonds from savings to be carefully provided for out of future earnings, leaving accumulated wealth in banks to carry on the rapidly increasing industrial and agricultural activities of the nation.

The people might well recognize that it is as obligatory to buy Liberty Bonds as it is to observe the regulations of the selective draft, make income tax reports, pay taxes, or to do any other thing required of all the people by the government. Again thanking you, we are,

Very truly yours,
LIBERTY LOAN COMMITTEE OF NEW ENGLAND.
Jno. K. Allen, Chairman Publicity Committee.

AERIAL RAIDERS DRIVEN BACK FROM PARIS

By International News Service.

Paris, May 16.—German airplanes tried to raid Paris last night and succeeded in dropping bombs in the suburbs, but failed to break through the defenses and reach the city proper.

The signal that enemy planes were approaching Paris was sounded shortly after 11 o'clock.

The high angle guns at once opened fire and defence machines went up to give battle to the invaders.

The all-clear signal was sounded at 11:55 o'clock. A German plane crossed the southern lines Wednesday morning, flying in the direction of Paris.

It was chased by French machines and fired upon by artillery and was forced to turn back.

By International News Service.

London, May 16.—German trenches in the sector of Gavrelle were raided by British forces during the night and some prisoners were captured, the War Office announced today. Heavy artillery duels continue on both the Picardy and Flanders battle fronts.

The text of the official communication follows:

"We raided enemy trenches last night near Gavrelle and took a few prisoners.

"There is nothing else to report."

4 Men Sink Battleship

POLA NAVY BASE IS RAIDED

Warship Attacked; 2 Austrian Airplanes Shot Down, One Is Forced to Land

By International News Service.

Rome, May 16.—Commander Pelligrini of the Italian navy, accompanied by three picked men, penetrated the defences of the Austrian naval base at Pola, and torpedoed an Austrian battleship of the Viribus Unitis type on Wednesday morning.

The daring enterprise was made known officially today.

Italian hydro-aeroplanes supported the action. Austrian machines attacked the Italian fliers. Two of the Austrian planes were destroyed and another was forced down.

The destruction of a great first-line battleship by four men aroused intense national enthusiasm.

The Giornale d'Italia in commenting upon the wonderful achievement said that the men who took part, in addition to Commander Pelligrini, were a Milanese seaman named Antione, Francesco Angelini and Giuseppe Nolco.

The battleship was torpedoed several times, the official report said.

The Italians returned to their base without having suffered any losses.

There are four Austro-Hungarian battleships of the Viribus Unitis type. In addition to the Viribus Unitis itself there are the Szent Istvan, the Prinz Eugen and the Tegetthoff, according to the Clowes Naval Manual. Their tonnage is 20,000 and they carry complements of 1,000 men.

Pola is the chief Austro-Hungarian naval base, lying at the foot of the Istrian peninsula on the Adriatic Sea.

The dispatches made no mention of the kind of seacraft the Italians had used in their enterprise.

Kaiser Holds His Hordes in Leash; Only Activity in West by Artillery

By FRANK CHARLTON,

International News Service Cable Editor.

An artillery battle was blazing over approximately 200 miles of the western front today, from the North sea to the southern reaches of the Picardy fighting zone.

The Kaiser, however, continues to hold his German hordes in leash and the only infantry operations that were reported were small and unimportant.

Amsterdam reports that "Belgium is seething with preparations" for a renewal of the offensive, apparently on both the Flanders and Picardy fronts. Troops continue to arrive in Belgium from Rumania—a country that now lies helpless under the heel of German militarism—and the Belgian hospitals are being cleared in preparation for the fresh numbers of wounded that will inevitably fill them when the great battle is resumed.

The Germans are reported to be concentrating their entire fleet at Kiel, which increases the probability that a sea offensive may be launched simultaneously with the renewal of the grand assault on land.

The defection of Russia has made it possible for the Germans to withdraw their sea forces from the Baltic and to concentrate all their sea strength against the British. The fate of the Russian Baltic fleet has never been revealed, and it is possible that the Germans may have seized the Russian men-of-war to reinforce their own navy.

In connection with the possibility of action on the high seas, interesting and important information was received from London today of a terrific bombardment on the Franco-Belgian coast. So violent was the fire that it could be plainly heard on the Kentish coast, more than thirty miles away. The storm of noise was accompanied by sharp flashes.

More Artillery Duels in Monastir District; Enemy Raids Repulsed

By International News Service.

Paris, May 16.—"Artillery duels have developed north of Monastir and in the sector of Doiran," the French War Office announced last night in a statement dealing with operations on the Balkan front. "Enemy raids against the Serbian lines were repulsed. There were patrol encounters on the slopes of the Struma. British airmen bombed Demirkapi and Serres (both of which are held by the Bulgarians)."

Austrian People in the Throes of Hunger; Curse the Militarists

Berne, May 16.—The food situation in Austria is desperate. Dispatches from German sources indicate that that part of Austria inhabited chiefly by persons of German blood is now beginning a critical three months from a food standpoint.

It is generally realized that Ukrainia will be unable to supply the needs of the central empires. Throughout both empires the poor are cursing the Prussian militarists who have seized Austrian food discontent as an opportunity to "dismember the Hapsburg empire," first winning over the German States of Austria to the Hohenzollerns.

The Germans in Tyrol now exhibit a separatist tendency in common with the Bohemian Germans. Tyrolean party leaders, speaking at Innsbruck, denied Austria, especially Premier Seydler, for the food crisis and pitiable distress.

The newspaper Aftenpost calls the treatment of Austria "shameful."

Hill, Fitchburg Boy of 19, Is Among the Slightly Wounded

Fitchburg, May 16.—Frank L. Hill, nineteen, whose name appears on today's casualty list, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill of No. 10 Maryland street. His family received word from Washington that he was slightly wounded. He enlisted in Company D, the old 6th Regiment, about a year before the war started, and went abroad April 18, 1917, with the 101st Infantry.

Two Haverhill Men Missing, One Became Father Since War

Haverhill, May 16.—Two Haverhill men are reported missing on today's casualty list. Private Raymond E. Ely, nineteen, son of Harry S. Ely of No. 619 Hilldale avenue, left his employment in a wooden heel factory in April, 1917, to enlist in Battery A, 102nd Field Artillery.

Walter R. Pierce, thirty-five, a member of the same unit, was a teamster before enlisting. His wife, Mrs. Mary A. Pierce, now living with her parents in Plaistow, N. H., became a mother January 14 last.

FARMS CALL MEN AND WOMEN WORKERS TO HELP WIN THE WAR

MANY TASKS READY FOR VOLUNTEERS; RED CROSS DRIVE NEEDS AID

One question faces the Stay-at-Homes more and more: What are YOU doing to help win the war?

To every man and woman in Boston and Massachusetts—yes, to the children, too—this question presses nearer and nearer.

The call for farm labor alone is insistent. The United States Public Service Reserve, of which Colonel William A. Gaston is director for Massachusetts, is enrolling men for farm work this Summer as fast as applicants present themselves.

It was this United States Public Service Reserve which enrolled more than 28,000 shipbuilders in a recent five weeks' drive in this State.

Women and girls are being enrolled for farm work by the Women's National Farm and Garden Association of which Mrs. W. A. Copeland is secretary at No. 4 Joy street.

Women and girls who apply at the office of the United States Public Service Reserve at room 177, State House, for farm enrollments are referred to Mrs. Copeland.

Co-operating with Mrs. Copeland and with the United States Public Service Reserve is Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears as chairman of the agricultural committee of the Women's Committee of the Council of National Defence.

Machine work and the metal trades are being opened more and more to women and girls, who take the places of men called to war.

There are thousands of opportunities for volunteer workers, who wish to give their "off time" to service of some kind that will help the nation.

The Red Cross, with its big drive coming next week, needs office workers. The Y. W. C. A. needs hostesses for its hostesses houses.

An inspiring example of real volunteer work, of willingness to turn the hand and brain to anything that will help the general cause, is found in the volunteer office staff at the State House office of the United States Public Service Reserve, where the great farm drive now centres.

COL. GASTON DIRECTOR.

This office is also the headquarters for the United States Employment Service, of which Colonel Gaston is the director for Massachusetts, and which distributes among the various trades and occupations the men and women who enroll in the reserve.

The Committee on War Efficiency, which was organized to take charge of State work in connection with labor matters arising out of war, now with Colonel Gaston as chairman, cooperates with the Federal agencies which are pushing the drives for shipbuilders, farm help or other workers for which the government may call from time to time.

The volunteer office staff in the office of the United States Public Service Reserve is made up of women from the Greater Boston families of wealth and social prominence.

These young women have put into the background their innumerable opportunities for social pleasures. The lure of the golf links, the tennis court and the bridle path yields to the call of the typewriter, the filing cabinet and the classification card.

It is no light and casual play-at-work affair. It is real office routine from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

GIRLS DO THE WORK.

Many of these girls, or their families, can afford to pay the cost of professional office workers and let it go at that. But they do the work themselves.

Some work two days a week, others three days, some a full week. But those who give a part of the week to the United States Public Service Reserve Office are putting in other hours in other war activities, Red Cross, and so on.

They have automobiles, with liveried chauffeurs, to drive them to and from work. But that is not so much for the luxury of machine ride as for the saving of time and strength.

This volunteer office force includes, as examples:

Miss Olivia Ames of No. 15 Marlboro street, member of the Ames family; Miss Sylvia H. Warren of No. 68 Beacon street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Warren; Miss May Kennedy of Chestnut Hill, Miss Caroline Ebann of No. 25 Marlboro street, Miss Mary Parker of Concord, Miss Mary Herndon of Commonwealth avenue, Miss Eleanor Curtis and Miss Anna Winslow of Chestnut street.

PAY PREVAILING WAGES

These and many other volunteer workers give their time and labor freely.

But the government, in its quest for workers in the United States Public Service Reserve—like this present farm drive for example—has declared that those who can turn themselves to farm work do so and be paid for it at the prevailing rate of wages.

Suppose, Mr. Man, you cannot leave your own work and put in a Summer on a farm.

Can you not give week-ends? Can you not devote your vacation to farming?

There's a healthy, happy thought—why spend a lot of money to go somewhere on an idle vacation trip when you might spend your vacation on a farm, live next to Nature's heart, benefit your health, help to win the war and be paid for it all in addition?

One of the latest instructions from the United States Public Service Reserve to its enrollment agents, scattered through every city and town in the State, carries this paragraph:

"In addition to 'All Thin' help, urge vacation help and Saturday and Sunday help, and get up enrollment cards for these as well as for those who can devote all their time for farm work."

Think it over.

There is something that nearly everyone of the folks "Back Home" can do to help win the war.

Men and women of large affairs are working without pay to bring the possible volunteer in touch with the work that needs relief.

Can you afford to sit idly by and let others save the country for you?

SOCIETY GIRLS WHO ARE WORKING HARD FOR THE PUBLIC SERVICE RESERVE

They may come to work in private autos, with liveried chauffeurs, but this gives them a few more minutes on the job. The women here shown are, from the left, Miss Sylvia Warren of Beacon street, Miss Mary Parker of Concord and Miss Olivia Ames of Commonwealth avenue.

McCALL FAVORS ANTI-LOAFING STATUTE

Suggests a Possibility, However, That the Measure Might Be Unconstitutional

Governor McCall favors the principle of the Greenwood anti-loafing bill. He made this announcement today:

"Women should not be forced to enter industry while able-bodied men remain unemployed," he said.

Governor McCall said there existed the possibility that it would be unconstitutional, as it might contravene that section of the Constitution which holds that no person shall be subjected to involuntary servitude except for crime.

Governor McCall's attitude is expected to help the bill.

It is also important to recall that the anti-loafing measure would become effective only after the Governor had issued a proclamation that it was the duty of all males between the ages of eighteen and fifty years to be regularly employed at some useful occupation at least thirty-six hours a week.

If the Legislature passes the bill in satisfactory form, Governor McCall will sign it and will issue the proclamation. At least that was the inference drawn from by those who discussed the situation with him today.

Governor McCall left this afternoon to attend the win-the-war conference of Governor and ex-Governors in Philadelphia.

BROTHERS ENLIST IN CANADIAN FORCES

Two more brothers enlisted at the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission, No. 44 Bromfield street, today. Both are natives of Canada.

Captain J. L. O'Brien is temporarily in command of the Mission headquarters during the absence of Major Kenneth D. Mariatt in New York.

CHARGES THEFT WHILE HE WAS CHLOROFORMED

Charging that Frank Rogers, a Court street barber, chloroformed him while in his barber chair, stealing his watch and fob, Timothy McCarthy, a legless pencil salesman, secured a default for Rogers in the Municipal Court today. McCarthy testified that he went to Rogers to get a haircut and a shave. While in the chair he said he was chloroformed and when he came to his watch and fob were missing. He also testified that Rogers charged him $2 for the haircut and shave. Rogers was given a four months' sentence for the larceny yesterday, but the case was continued until today. Rogers failed to show up.

WOULD RESTRICT ROAD WORK TO SAVE PETROLEUM

Because of the imperative need of petroleum products to win the war, the United States Fuel Administration today sent a letter urging the Massachusetts Highway Commission to suspend highway construction and repairing wherever possible. The Federal authorities requested that all highway work be passed upon by the State Department. A special permit will be required before oil will be delivered for road work.

NEW BANKING LAW NOT EFFECTIVE UNTIL JUNE 15

Grace Lusk Is Taken To Tragedy Scene

By International News Service.

Waukesha, Wis., May 16.—The trial of Grace Lusk, physiology teacher, for the murder of Mrs. Mary Newman Roberts, wife of Dr. David Roberts, the man Grace Lusk loved, was on in earnest today. Shortly after court opened the jury sworn in and immediately after it was taken in automobiles to the scene of the slaying. Miss Lusk went with them.

The party went straight to the brown stone house where Jan June Miss Lusk shot Mrs. Roberts and where Miss Lusk lived with Miss Biana Milli and Miss Mertle Lull.

The woman was smiling when she reached the scene of the tragedy. She strolled about the gardens, sniffing the new buds and picked a bough of cherry blossoms. Then she stepped into the house of death.

GLAD OF TRIAL ACTION.

Miss Lusk turned to the reporters and said:

"It will be a relief to have the testimony begin, because that testimony will be my explanation to the world. I can hear them talking and whispering behind me in the courtroom. But that talking and whispering will stop, ashamed, when the testimony begins.

"I am not afraid. I fear nothing. I am sure people will understand when they hear the truth."

The prosecutor will ask for murder in the first degree verdict on the ground that the defendant was sane at the time of the commission of the act. The defence will enter a plea of insanity.

MISS LUSK PLEASED.

Miss Lusk says she is pleased with the appearance of the twelve men in the box. Her aged father beside her, the defendant spends most of the time of the session in making free-hand pencil drawings from memory, using the backs of old envelopes.

Miss Lusk toyed with a dandelion she plucked on her way over from her cell.

"It speaks to me of the out of doors and the fresh air and the sunshine.

"Those are the things I love. It was a wonderful thing to come out again in the sunshine today; you know I have been in my—well, my home, since December.

"It is almost worth while to face all this for the chance of walking out into the open again."

KNITS IN JAIL.

She was asked how she occupied herself with the time in jail. She said:

"I've been knitting socks and sweaters and reading. I like to knit. I rather think I prefer knitting sweaters to socks. It takes real brains to knit socks, you know, and I read somewhere that there was something wrong with my brains."

She smiled a little at this and went on:

"I have heard some of the funniest things about myself," she explained. "Why do they call me a psychologist when I am only a teacher of elementary psychology in a high school? Would you call a women who by chance raised two or three morning glories a horticulturist?

"Why, some people have written that I wrote poetry. I never wrote poetry. When I was of the valentine age I used to write poetry for valentines. I remember one I wrote that went something like this:

"'Here is a present for thee,
"'Please send one back to me.'

"Now, if you think that is writing poetry, I am guilty. I don't write scenarios or plays, either, and I have not written my life history. Someone said I was writing for a New York newspaper, but I am not even in the 'war pop' class of contributors."

Then Miss Lusk turned her back to her study of the veniremen who were being examined for the jury.

Mystery in Selection of Horse Doctor as Teacher's Soul Mate

Waukesha, Wis., May 16.—One of the strange elements in the Lusk-Roberts tragedy is that when Grace Lusk, who had no love affair until she was past forty years of age, finally did fall in love, her choice should have settled on Dr. Roberts. To have found her eventually worshipping some man of high distinction in art, literature or the sciences would have been the expected. Her thoughts, her trend of life, which bore on her every vacation to the shrines of art and learning of Europe, gave such indication.

Dr. Roberts stood up to no such ideal. He is a practical politician and his financial fortune has been builded on the sale of patent medicines for cattle. He is a horse doctor.

But Miss Lusk, whatever may be the feeling of resentment against him now since he disavows there was a romance in which he took a willing part, declaring that whatever of love existed was on her part alone, since he declares that she "hounded me," admits she loved him and contends he indeed had won her love by ardent wooing.

The while he told her incessantly of how weary he had grown of his wife, and that if the future was to hold any happiness for him it must come through a divorce to be followed by a wedding with Miss Lusk. On the very eve of her trial she has said in her cell:

"He loves me now, but does not dare avow it."

WENT TO DOCTOR'S HOME

So sure had Miss Lusk become of this love that she was all for going straight to Mrs. Roberts—this on the night of June 20, 1917—certain she could convince the doctor's wife that the right thing for Mrs. Roberts to do would be to get out of the way of her husband's future happiness.

She went so far in the prosecution of this idea as to present herself at the door of the doctor's home. But it was by no means

'VICTORY WITH POWER,' TAFT WAR CRY

Echoes Wilson's Declaration That "Force Must Be Met With Force"

By International News Service.

Philadelphia, May 16.—America's full strength in the world war will not be felt for at least two years—perhaps three years.

So declared former President Taft here today in a stirring address before the opening session of the War for Permanent Peace Convention.

"But, thank God," he added, "the will of the people to see this war through to German defeat is gathering with irresistible force. And let's have it known to the world; let's have it heralded in London and Paris to hearten our allies, and let's have it sounded in Berlin, that all the energy of this country, all its potential power, is to be converted into force."

A round of applause followed Mr. Taft's utterance that the slogan of America and its allies must be "victory with power."

"But," he continued, "it will take fully two years—perhaps three—to fulfill proper plans of preparation."

The former President decried unfounded optimism, saying:

"We should face the facts and should realize the task before us. We should set our faces stern and unbending, but for one purpose—war."

Mr. Taft insisted that complete overthrow of the Hohenzollern rule in Europe was imperative.

"The utter untrustworthiness of the Kaiser as a signatory to a peace treaty," he declared, "has been shown time and again.

"And there is not the slightest reason to believe that any peace negotiation is possible for some time to come."

Here Mr. Taft reiterated President Wilson's declaration that "Force now must be met with force."

4,000,000 Men Now Under Arms in Italy

By International News Service.

Washington, May 15.—Every man in Italy between the ages of eighteen and forty-five is now in the military or naval service. More than four million men in all are under arms. More men than ever before are on the actual battle front.

Even the blind, the deaf and the otherwise partially disabled are in the military service where they can be used. The blind, for instance, have been enlisted to act as teachers to the soldiers blinded in battle.

This complete mobilization of Italy's man power was reported in Italian official dispatches received here today. The boys of eighteen are proving heroes. Most of them were rushed into the army last Fall, when the Austrians were pressing down the Piave.

Italy has been able to spare men for Palestine, Macedonia, Albania, and in ever-growing numbers, for France.

ICE STATIONS FOR HUB THIS SUMMER

Product Is to Be Sold at 25 Cents Per Hudred During Hot Weather

Ice stations will be established this Summer in the more congested districts of metropolitan Boston by the ice dealers where consumers can buy ice on the "cash-and-carry" plan at the rate of twenty-five cents per 100 pounds, Chairman James J. Phelan of the committee appointed by Food Administrator Henry B. Endicott to investigate and fix ice prices, made this announcement in his report, which has been approved by the Federal authorities.

"There have been hearings at the food administration headquarters since last November and as a result of the co-operation between the committee and the ice dealers, the dealers have agreed to deliver ice free for the sick upon physicians' orders or to the poor on the order of any charitable organization.

Chairman Phelan said in commenting upon the fixed price of 50 cents per 100 pounds for ice delivered that the prices stated as maximum prices do not justify dealers resorting to them when they can by peculiar circumstances operate with a reasonable margin of profit at considerably less than the maximum.

The maximum price agreed upon is to be 50 cents per 100 pounds delivered, 25 cents for fifty pounds, 15 cents for thirty pounds, 10 cents for twenty pounds and 5 cents for ten pounds. The dealers agree to inaugurate the cash-and-carry system by supplying stations at public parks, public squares and vacant lots in the congested districts.

The Food Administrator will see to it with the co-operation of Mayor Peters and Police Commissioner O'Meara that men to have charge of these stations are supplied and women to act as cashiers.

Ice prices at these stations at the cash-and-carry rate will be twenty-five cents per 100 pounds, twenty cents per eighty pounds, ten cents per forty pounds and five cents for twenty pounds. This plan is expected to accomplish much in affording those in the most humble of circumstances the opportunity to conserve food during the hot weather.

BOY 17, NAMED IN LOVE SUIT, ASKS $10,000 DAMAGES

Mrs. Anna Louise Walton, whose boy friend has sued her husband for defamation of character, alleging that he was the victim of a conspiracy on which a divorce suit was based.

Arguments will be heard late today on the question of dismissing the action for divorce brought by William R. Walton, a seaman in the navy, against his twenty-two-year-old wife, Anna Louise. The matters of support and domestic relations will also be taken up.

William DeWitt of Stoneham, the seventeen-year-old youth named by Walton, has sued Walton and Walton's mother for $10,000, charging defamation.

Judge Hammond refused to grant a decree because of connivance on the part of Walton and his mother, who runs a lodging house in the South End.

Walton based his action on the fact that he discovered his wife in a dark room with De Witt, who until recently was a pupil in the Somerville High School.

In his suit, filed by his father, Newton A. De Witt, the youth declares the defendant's conspired to defame him and maliciously accused him of impropriety with Mrs. Walton.

Walton testified that he and a detective listened by means of a dictaphone to a conversation between his wife and De Witt. They then entered the room, he said, and found Mrs. Walton in company with the boy.

Mrs Walton testified that DeWitt had called on the suggestion of her mother-in-law, to prevent the younger woman from becoming lonely. She said that they went in to see the baby and that the gas went out when she attempted to turn it low. She said there were no chairs and both sat down on a couch.

Judge Hammond said:

"It is a clear case. The libelee was discovered in a situation in which it may be fairly inferred she was guilty of indiscretion, but I do not think it necessary to admit a finding as to that fact.

"Mrs. Walton was a light-headed, inexperienced young rather who had been subjected for the first time to this terrible temptation. The situation in which she was discovered is not the chief affair of this court.

"I rule that there was connivance on the part of the husband and his mother and that the libellant is not entitled to a decree."

GRAND DUKE'S CAPTURE IS CONFIRMED

Berne, via Paris, May 16.—Berlin officially confirmed today that the Grand Duke Nicholas has been taken a prisoner.

The Berlin announcement presumably refers to Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, uncle of the former Czar. He was recently reported to have been taken prisoner in the Crimea, where he has a magnificent estate.

Grand Duke Nicholas always has been regarded as the greatest military potentiality in Russia. He was commander-in-chief of the Russian armies during the first two years of the war and led them in the many clever retreats, cheating Hindenburg and Mackensen out of the fruits of their "break through" victories. He still is the idol of millions of Russians and it is comprehensible that the Germans were eager to "put him safe," lest he lead a counter-revolt that would seriously threaten the German penetration of Russia.

DUAL PURPOSE IN PLANS FOR WAR EXHIBIT

Publicity Chiefs May Launch Novel Saving and Educational Scheme in This City

Plans for a great allied war exposition to educate the people to the real meaning of the war and to promote the sale of thrift stamps were tentatively discussed at a gathering of business men with representatives of George Creel, head of the committee on public information, at the Copley-Plaza Hotel.

It was decided to have a committee wait upon Governor McCall and Mayor Peters today to ask them to appoint an advisory committee to cooperate with representatives of the committee on public information in bringing this about.

Mayor Peters was present at the dinner at which the proposed exposition was discussed and the Governor was represented by Lieutenant-Governor Calvin Coolidge. Army and navy representatives were also present.

Carl Byoir, introduced as representing Mr. Creel, who was unable to be present, said that the exposition would take place in Mechanics Hall in June, but that there was some doubt whether it would first be shown in San Francisco and then transported across the continent to Boston, or whether Boston would be the first of the big cities to witness the exposition.

TO EXHIBIT WAR TROPHIES.

"Trophies of war captured from the Germans and all other trophies loaned by the British, French and Canadian governments will be exhibited. Among them will be machine guns, cannon, rifles and possibly at craft, it was stated.

It is also planned, Mr. Byoir stated, in order to give the people a clearer insight into how the war is fought to bring an armored tank here and to have it charge upon trenches dug either in Boston Common or on the circus grounds on Huntington avenue where thousands could gather to see it. Trench mortars will be used to show how an attack on a trench is met, he said.

Lieutenant Shaw of the Canadian forces told of the exhibit of vocational training which it is planned to have to show how men incapacitated for further service are trained to some useful occupation. Many of the men so trained have lost an arm or a leg and would be helpless to earn a living unless given special training.

Wendell McMahill, who is to be the director of the exposition, told of the work the Committee on Public Information is doing to combat German propaganda.

LESSONS ON FILMS.

As a sample of it there was shown a moving picture entitled "Pershing's Crusaders," taken by the Signal Corps and showing the American troops in France and the preparations on such a tremendous scale for war that are going on in this country.

Such pictures will be circulated through all the moving picture theatres of the country, he said, and arrangements are also being made to have them shown in England, Canada, France and Italy. In Switzerland, he said, all the moving picture houses have been bought up by the Germans for the purpose of carrying on their propaganda.

Mr. McMahill said a small admission fee would be charged and that a coupon would be attached to each ticket to be exchanged for a war savings stamp book with the initial stamp affixed. In this way, he declared, the government hoped to promote the sale of millions of dollars worth of thrift stamps throughout the country.

It was stated that the exposition is to be shown in the larger cities throughout the country. Several cars are required to transport the trophies alone.

Has Three Sons in Service

Mrs. Peter Hines of No. 204 West Eighth street, South Boston, has two sons in the trenches in France and a third one who is also in the service. All her spare time she spends knitting for the sailors and arranging parties to procure comforts for sailors and soldiers.

Filene's

A cable from our Paris office says:

"Are advertising shopping service and watch repairing. Rush comics and joke books, big demand."

(Translated from abbreviated cable version.)

This cable means that so many American soldiers are finding it necessary to have their wrist-watches regulated and repaired in Paris, and are finding it so difficult that they have appealed to our Paris office to help them.

ONE MORE FILENE SERVICE FOR SOLDIERS! We suggest that you can leave a deposit here at the Filene store which will be credited to your soldier's account in Paris, from which he can, among other things, have his watch repaired.

Regarding the comics, we are having a lot of the favorites like "Abie Kabibble" run off and are shipping them to Paris so that our agents can enclose them with letters.

We make no charge for sending money to the boys in France, a small charge for merchandise when bought. There is scarcely anything you want to send, including TOBACCO and CANDY, that cannot best go through our Paris office.

FRENCH 'ACE' LIKE STORY HERO

Born in France, Has American Father, and Has Traveled World Over

(By International News Service).

New York, May 16.—Major Raoul Lufbery!

Even the mention of Captain Kidd, Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn and Frank Read, Jr., fails to grip the brain of Young America and fill him with such magic as found in these three words—Major Raoul Lufbery.

Nor does the magic, the keen appreciation and the deepest of respect and admiration confine itself to our youth. Young and old alike have read and pondered of the almost superhuman doings of Major Lufbery. Many have reread and then wondered if the newspaperman had not strayed a bit from facts in order that they might give vent to their personal admiration of the American "Ace."

With seventeen enemy aeroplanes to his credit, Lufbery has been actually dragged from active service by General Pershing and commissioned as an instructor in the American general's new air army. And if Pershing's wishes are adhered to, Lufbery has made his last flight—but—and here's the rub—if Lufbery has aught to do with it, we may expect to read any day of another brilliant air victory by the "Ace."

BEATS MOST LURID DRAMA.

Those writers of fiction, those who indulge in wildest flights of fancy and excessive use of "painting" adjectives, have yet failed to pen a life so replete with romance, so highly colored with actual experience and endless travel and with a climax—at least for the present—which even the most lurid drama has yet failed to produce.

Because of limited space the early life of Raoul may be chronicled as follows: Native of France; born of American father, now a resident of Talesville, Ct., and French mother; spent early childhood days in the rugged hills of the Cevennes Mountain range; later lived with grandmother in small French town; on death of his mother Raoul went to live with his father and the four other children at Blois; he worked in a chocolate factory while the father remained at home to care for the other children; later, when his father obtained a lucrative position, Raoul began his nomadic career; worked his way through Algiers, Tunis, Morocco, Egypt, Constantinople, Rumania, Austria, Germany; then on a steamship plying between Hamburg and South Africa.

Accustomed to going and coming when he pleased, Raoul suddenly left the boat in South Africa and came to America, to Wallingford, Ct., to visit his father, only to find that his father had departed for Antwerp. From 1907 to 1909 Raoul worked in a silver plant at Wallingford. Raoul then went to Cuba, on his second trip around the world. He spent eighteen months in the Philippines in Uncle Sam's service.

FIRST FLYING LESSONS

When next heard from, Raoul was in Ceylon, but tiring of tea fields he spent a few months in hunting tigers in Bombay, India. Thence to Calcutta went the wanderer. He was making his way through Asia, having reached French Indo-China, when the great war started. There fate again shuffled the cards, dealing so that Raoul met Aviator Pourpe, who was giving flying exhibitions throughout the Orient.

From the moment that he first saw Pourpe fly he was no longer a wanderer; he was an aviator. Pourpe taught him to fly and the two became chums—firm and lasting friends. Following a fall, in which both experienced a miraculous escape from death, they went to Paris. That was in August, 1914.

No sooner had the echoes of the thundering of the German guns been heard in Paris than Pourpe enlisted as a flier. Raoul immediately enlisted as his mechanic. Pourpe was killed after a few flights and Lufbery, seeking vengeance for his chum's death, enlisted in the Foreign Legion and later joined the Lafayette Escadrille, soon after Lieutenant Thaw and others had organized it.

MEDALS FOR BRAVERY.

Raoul has been decorated with four military medals for aerial bravery and early last September was already credited with having brought down his twelfth enemy plane. Once he engaged four enemy planes. He brought down one and chased the other three. During that battle he also rescued a comrade who was in distress and fighting overwhelming odds.

Lufbery accompanied the ill-fated Kiffin Rockwell, who was killed September 23. When Raoul learned of the fate of his flying partner he ordered his gasoline tank refilled and again soared heavenward to avenge his comrade's death. The Hoches had departed hastily. They knew Lufbery. That he knew no fear is splendidly shown in a recent letter to his father, in which appears the following line: "I love best to wait behind a cloud and watch the Boche bird come on."

And his dad, sixty-four, clear of eye and strong of limb, is proudly waiting for the return of his famous son, whom he has not seen since the latter left France at the age of seventeen, fifteen years ago.

WOMAN JAILED ON LIQUOR CHARGE SEEKS PARDON

Augusta, Me., May 16.—Alleging that through the inadvertence of the sheriff of Penobscot County and the judge of the Bangor Municipal Court she was sent to jail on a liquor charge, Seline Kelley of Bangor, a Syrian, has filed an application for a pardon with the Governor and Council, and a hearing on the petition will be held at a session of the Council, May 29.

The Kelley woman was arrested April 25 on the charge of illegally depositing and having in her possession intoxicating liquors with intend to sell. She pleaded not guilty, but was sentenced by Judge E. W. Blanchard of the Municipal Court to pay a fine of $100 and costs and to serve sixty days in jail.

PLENTY OF FLOUNDERS ASSURED IN MAINE

Bangor, May 16.—Whatever other fish may be scarce in the next few years, there should be plenty of flounders, for within the last ten days there have been liberated in Maine coast waters 1,163,000,000 flounder fry, or baby flounders. These flat little fishes will attain full size within five years, all of them, for nothing ever happens to them. No one knows why, but for some reason the voracious big fishes that gobble so many of the little ones of other species let the young flounders entirely alone.

BOY AWARDED $5,000 FOR INJURIES BY AUTO

A verdict of $5,000 was given to Donald McAllister of Needham by a jury in the Superior Court at Dedham in his suit for personal injuries against the Needham Lumber Company. Young McAllister was riding a bicycle on Great Plain avenue, Needham, several months ago, when he was thrown to the ground and severely injured by an automobile truck of the defendant. The jury gave the plaintiff the entire amount he sued for.

CANVASS MAINE FARMS TO DETERMINE LABOR NEED

Augusta, Me., May 16.—The Maine committee on food, production and conservation at a meeting here, instructed Chester C. Fowles, the farm labor specialist, who works in conjunction with the committee, to make a complete canvass of the various country chairmen in order that the definite needs of the farmer as to labor may be ascertained. Printed forms will be furnished to the county and town chairmen for making application for farm labor in order that the definite needs may be known to the other industries with the possibility of releasing labor for farm work.

Filene's—MEN'S SHOPS

Even a flea on a dog has its use!

Two men at a New York hotel

BRUCE BARTON, who always has an inspiring story up his sleeve, tells this one.

Two men tried an experiment. They dressed themselves in their best clothes, and went to dinner at a prominent New York hotel.

The head waiter received them deferentially, gave them a good table, the waiter hurried to take their order, and when they left the captain asked them to come again.

The next night, they went to the same hotel dressed in their old clothes. Nobody noticed them, they got a poor place after digging it out themselves, waited twenty minutes, had the waiter sling a menu in front of them, were waited on sullenly and from first to last had a thin time (as the British say).

Good clothes are an advertisement for you, poor clothes a black eye. Men are judged more often than not by outward appearance, rather than by their real character.

And so, since people are going to judge by your clothes whether you like it or not, why not wear clothes that people will rate high—good clothes like those made by Stein-Bloch, which though they command good seats and better service in restaurants, yet bear modest price tags! Twenty-five to forty-five dollars per suit.

"Tramp, tramp, tramp," the boys are marching in the Munson army shoes

And "tramp, tramp, tramp," the boys' fathers are marching over the golf links—keeping fit to be in the best possible shape to do their bit here at home. The boys "over there," many of them, are forgetting they have feet, the Munson Army last is so comfortable. And that is why we have built a golf shoe on the Munson last.

You can do a "36" and not know you have shoes on. The foot just settles into the shoe, with plenty of room to spread out.

A Filene value, due to advance buying. Only $7 a pair.

Buy a pair—then tell your friends about them.

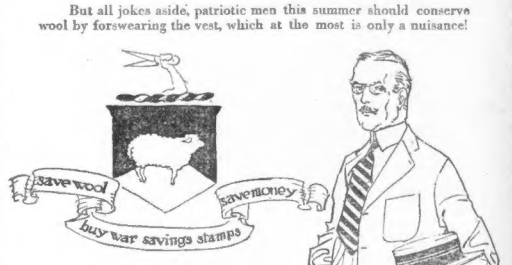
Everything has its use, they tell us, even the flea on the dog which keeps the dog's mind off the fact that he is a dog!

The feathers on women's hats keep the ostrich from being out of work, the lowly mosquito keeps New Jersey on the map and the humorists employed.

And a vest in summer has a use, but NOT FOR AMERICANS. It is useful to the Germans because it helps to waste the American wool supply and retards our war-work. It also keeps a man warm and makes business good for the soda (?) fountains.

But all jokes aside, patriotic men this summer should conserve wool by forswearing the vest, which at the most is only a nuisance!



Men's vestless suits $16.50

(Coat and trousers)

THESE SUITS have just come in, many with satin yoke lining, made from our own woolens bought long ago when prices had just started upward.

They come in basket weaves, worsteds and homespuns, and while they run largely to lighter colors, have plenty of conservative grays for men above the draft age! They are tailored like three-piece suits and look just as well.

Patriotic men will buy these suits, help the government save wool for the soldiers, and take the money they save and

Invest in War Savings Stamps

Other vestless suits as low as $12.50 and $15, and higher at $20, $22, $25 and $30 (some tailored by Stein-Bloch).

Lincoln-Bennett London straw hats $2

OF COURSE, we could get more money for them—but could we make more friends? We are building this business on Filene-value-giving. Here is a Filene value that sticks out like a sore thumb, a Filene value that makes it possible to men to be as well dressed as ever and still help win the war, for we sincerely hope that many men who intended to pay $3 will buy a Lincoln-Bennett at $2 and buy four Thrift Stamps with the difference!

FREE SETTINGS OF EGGS GIVEN AS WAR MEASURE

Little Rock, Wash., May 16.—Members of the Oregon and Washington Poultry Breeders' Association have offered to give free settings of eggs to all people who will promise to sell the eggs and raise the chickens for market. The offer is a war measure, designed to increase the supply of both chickens and eggs, and so lessen the demand for meats. California poultrymen are reported to have endorsed the plan, and to be willing to furnish eggs for California families that have pet hens, as well.

SAYS HER HUSBAND, 78, WOULD WED "CHICKEN"

Leavenworth, Kan., May 16.—James R. Hayes, seventy-eight, a veteran of the Civil War, was refused a divorce by the local courts from his wife, Frances Jane Hayes, seventy-six, who he alleges deserted him. They were married in Illinois in 1865. They have five grown sons.

Mrs. Hayes told the court that her husband had told her he wanted to marry a younger woman—a "chicken."

She also said that she was willing to live with Hayes, although she did not believe a word he said, he had broken so many promises to her. Mrs. Hayes will receive half of her husband's pension hereafter.

Crawls 3 Miles on Hands and Knees to Pay Bet

By International News Service.

Oakland, Cal., May 16.—Crawling three miles on his hands and knees to the accompaniment of hysterical mirth from his wife and the boastful taunts of his golf opponent was the penalty that H. A. Mosher, vice-president of the Central National Bank, had to pay in settling a golf bet with William Cavalier, well-known stock broker.

"I bet I can beat you and do the whole eighteen holes in 76 this morning," was the challenge made at the Claremont links.

Cavalier lost no time in taking up the wager. "I'll take your bet, but I'm sb sure that you can't that if you lose you must crawl over the entire course on your hands and knees and buy a thousand dollar Liberty Bond."

The terms were accepted. Mosher lost, crawled, and bought the bond.

Dine on Alligator Meat

Morgantown, W. Va., May 16.—To prove statements made in recent articles written by him that reptiles are good for food, Professor A. M. Reese of West Virginia University, gave an alligator dinner to twenty-four of his friends here. The dish was given the warm indorsement of his guests, among whom were several professors of the university.

SENATE VOTES POSTAL WAGE INCREASES

Amends House Bill by Limiting Pay Raises to Current Fiscal Year

By International News Service.

Washington, May 16.—Without a protesting murmur, the Senate passed the amendment to the postoffice bill raising salaries in the postoffice department. It was done so quietly that it was all over in a moment.

The salary increases have already been passed by the Housee with one difference. The House proposed the increase as a permanent change, while the Senate made them for the next fiscal year, on the ground that when the year after that comes around, salaries may have to be made lower or higher, according to existing conditions.

$200 ANNUAL INCREASE.

Under the amendment, salaries of clerks in first and second class postoffices and letter carriers in the city delivery, as well as railway postal clerks from grades one to ten are increased $200 a year. The same raise is given to postal service employes whose compensation exceeds $1,500 annually.

Increases of 20 per cent. annually are given to employes receiving $800 and less; and 15 per cent. to those from $800 to $1,500. Rural carriers with horse drawn vehicles are increased 20 per cent. and also carriers on motor routes who drive fifty miles and more.

Fourth-class postmasters would receive 100 per cent. of cancellations of the first $100 or less per quarter, instead of the present $50.

RAISE OF 20 PER CENT.

If their compensation is not more than $50 for the quarter, they are to receive 20 per cent. increase of the regular salary. Senator Vardeman put in this last amendment to the main amendment, which was submitted by Senator Bankhead as chairman of the Postoffice Committee.

A further provision of the amendment states that temporary or auxiliary clerks and letter carriers at first and second-class postoffices shall receive forty cents an hour.

The raises apply to the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919.

An interesting amendment offered by Senator Saulsbury and adopted by the Senate allows families of American soldiers in France to send them every month a parcel post package not to exceed three pounds. This is designed to modify the embargo at present upon parcel post packages.

SIMPLIFIED SPELLING TABOOED BY TEACHERS

Spokane, Wash., May 16.—A national secretary of education, with a seat in the President's Cabinet, is favored by educators of this State, according to a resolution adopted at the recent convention here of the Inland Empire Teachers' Association. Simplified spelling and other advanced propaganda found little favor with the convention. It was declared of greater importance that the youth of the land be taught to study health, morality, political science and languages.

BURNS GERMAN BOOKS AND LONGS FOR KAISER

Wilmington, Del., May 16.—After stripping her valuable library of its many German books, Mrs. William E. Day carried the volumes to a vacant lot and applied a match. "I wish I had the Kaiser to put on top of the pile," she said.

Her territory includes a considerable part of Beacon Hill, the Back Bay section proper, the Fenway and a strip extending out Commonwealth avenue as far as St. Mary's street. Mrs. William Patten is vice-chairman of the committee, and Mrs. Archibald Blanchard is secretary. The executive committee consists of Mrs. George Fearing, Jr., Miss Paulina Fenno, Miss Sarah Lawrence, Mrs. Henry Lyman, Mrs. Colin McDonald and Miss Ruth Thayer. Lyons, Kas., May 16. — Electricity will replace the old hand drills and the miner's lamps in the Bevis salt mine, near this city, after the mine has been operated for years in the old-style way. The mine has been wired for electric lights, and the drills will be replaced by electric drills. The output is expected to be almost doubled by the new methods.

Garbage Pails Are to Be Watched Closely

Boston's garbage pails are going to be inspected. Every container of refuse and garbage in the city is to be carefully examined by officials of the Health Department in order that the conservation work may be carried right down to the odds and ends that go to the garbage can.

The food authorities in Washington have requested the city of Boston to make a canvass of the garbage and refuse containers of the homes and restaurant kitchens, and to enforce certain regulations in regard to the use of such containers.

The bits of meat and of vegetables, which contain so much grease, must be carefully watched and put into the garbage pail. The government is making glycerine ins out of this refuse, and that glycerine means high explosives for the boys in France.

ALL-STAR CAST WILL APPEAR IN "OUT THERE"

When the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross offers for the first time in this city J. Hartley Manners' grippingly human play, "Out There," at the Boston Opera House, Tuesday evening, May 21, the proceeds of which will be donated to the war fund of this organization, theatregoers will be privileged to view the most notable gathering of stage stars ever assembled to appear together in the theatrical history of the city.

The cast selected to perform this stirring war play includes such celebrated personages as George Arliss, George M. Cohan, Mrs. Fiske, Julia Arthur, James K. Hackett, Helen Ware, James T. Powers, Beryl Mercer, O. P. Heggie, George MacFarlane, Eleanora de Cisneros, Burr McIntosh, Laurette Taylor, H. B. Warner and Chauncy Olcott, an aggregation whose weekly payroll would represent a sum that any conservative man or woman might feel comfortable with for the remaining days of his or her life.

In the production of "Out There," which, by the way, scoring one of the biggest hits in the metropolis the past season, there will be several scenes which are exact reproductions of the original. For instance, in the second act the scene laid in a hospital behind the British front in France is an exact reproduction of the portable asbestos hospitals, of which there are dozens behind the British lines.

"Out There" is a play that goes straight to the heart and is full of rich humor and tender pathos. It is the sort of play that makes an indelible impression on the minds of all classes of theatregoers.

COAL AS GOOD AS CASH TO PAY BILLS WITH

Lawyer Loses in Suit Against Cambridge Wife of Flier in France

"Black diamonds" can be as good as money to pay for one's board and room.

Mrs. Olive Baker, who moved from West Medford to the home of her sister, Mrs. M. Henry Norris of Newton street in Cambridge, offered the Norrises nine tons of coal toward her board and room in place of money, as she was without funds.

The coal was accepted and was burned in due time. An action was brought by Thomas J. A. Bilodeau, attorney, to recover $90 from Mr. Norris for the coal.

The case, which was heard in the Boston Municipal Court, brought to light, as testified by Mrs. Baker, that her husband, Melville Baker, now flying with the Royal Flying Corps, had left his wife, prior to his going to France.

Baker had assigned to Attorney Bilodeau his personal effects. These, Bilodeau figured, included the nine tons of coal in the Baker bin. Bilodeau said that when he sought the coal to convert it to cash for Baker's benefit, he found that it had been moved to the Norris house, where it subsequently was converted into ashes.

Mrs. Baker declared that Baker's father gave the coal to her, not to her husband, so that she had a right to turn it over to the Norrises, Judge Burke decided Bilodeau had no claim against Norris.

SNOOZELUMS, DOG ACTOR, PACIFIED WITH FINE NEW CANINE TOGGERY

Snoozelums, star doggie of the "Toot-Toot" company, being measured for new mittens and bootees at a Boston shop. Miss Louise Allen of the company is assisting in the interesting operation by holding the little dog so there can be no doubt about the articles fitting this time.

Snoozelums, the star doggie of "Toot-Toot," has seemed sulky and disgruntled ever since a box of new costumes were received last week for different members of the company. When the box was opened and no new booties or bows for her were forthcoming, she busied herself chewing up the old ones and pulling them off as fast as they could be fastened on. They didn't fit and Snoozelums knew it.

Louise Allen, who plays the part of the young bride and is the owner of the "Toot-Toot powder-puff," finally divined the reason for the display of temperament, so she took Snoozelums to a shop where sweaters, socks and things are knitted and had measurements taken for a pair of new mittens and another pair of booties.

DOWD CALLS ON REVERE MAYOR FOR HEARING

Policeman Prosecutes Case in Court Despite His Suspension

Patrolman Thomas W. Dowd of the Revere police department, who was suspended three weeks ago by Mayor Alfred S. Hall for conduct unbecoming an officer and detrimental to the discipline of the department, today demanded that he be given a public hearing and that specifications be furnished him.

In a letter to the Mayor, Dowd declared he had the right of public trial before being discharged from the force and requested that specifications be sent to his counsel in advance of such a trial.

Notwithstanding his suspension Dowd acted as prosecuting officer today in the trial before Judge Stearns in the Chelsea court of Mary Frongello, who was accused of buying olive oil worth $349 which she knew to be stolen. He arrested the woman some weeks ago.

It is said that since the suspension Dowd's salary has been made up by the other officers of the police department, and that the Massachusetts Police Association has offered to furnish him counsel when his case comes to trial. He is a popular officer who has a record of many prosecutions.

Patrolman Dowd's suspension was owing to his failure to properly patrol his route and for profanity in the presence of a superior officer. Mayor Hall stated in temporarily removing him from the force. Since that time petitions have been circulated in Revere for his reinstatement.

NO COLLECTION SUNDAY AT ARMY BALL GAME

Motorists Can Now Run Autos in Nantucket

Nantucket, May 16.—The automobile has captured the last stronghold of its enemies. Nantucket has voted to admit the motor car to its streets.

The town has been wrought up over the question of permitting motor-vehicles on the island for a number of years. Since the historic occasion when a Summer resident attempted to evade the auto ban the sight of the hated auto has not troubled the natives of the island.

The action of the town meeting has brought a new era and hereafter owners of motor vehicles may chug safely along Nantucket's streets without fear of suffering the vengeance of the law.

FIGHT WRIT RESTRAINING SHOE HELP FROM STRIKING

An application to dissolve the temporary injunction issued by Judge Quinn at Salem restraining the employes of Lynn shoe factories from striking will be filed tomorrow, it was stated today.

The application will be made to Judge Waite in the Suffolk Superior Court in Boston by Frederick W. Mansfield, counsel for the shoeworkers.

Deputy sheriffs and constables of Lynn were busy today serving returning orders of notice to appear in court here May 22 on officials of the United Shoe Workers of America and the Allied Shoe Workers' Union, the two organizations named in the bill of complaint.

About 15,000 shoeworkers, members of the fourteen locals of the two unions, are vitally interested in the court actions.

GIRL ADMITS GUILT, IS SENT TO HOSPITAL

Nora G. Lane, nineteen, of Bradley street, Somerville, pleaded guilty to a serious charge in the Somerville Court today and was sent to the Boston Hospital for ten days' observation. The young woman was arrested following the death of Edward Croke, thirty-seven, whose body was found in their gas filled bedroom with a rubber gas tube in his hand. According to the police, Croke, who had been out of work for three weeks, committed suicide in a fit of despondency. The police charged that the couple had been living together in the Bradley street house since May 4.

DUVAL, FRENCH EDITOR, TO DIE AS TRAITOR

By International News Service.

Paris, May 16.—Director Duval of the notoriously pro-German Bonnet Rouge was condemned to death after only a half hour's deliberation by the council which tried him and his co-defendants.

Assistant Manager Marion was sentenced to ten years at hard labor; Landau and Goldsky, two writers on the publication, to eight years each; Joucla to five years; Jean Leymarie, director of the interior ministry under Malvy and afterward head of the secret service, to two years; and Vercasson, another member of the staff, to two years.

The death verdict and sentences were unanimous.

Duval, the chief director of the Bonnet Rouge, was sentenced to death for treason, it having been proved that he accepted German money for conducting a pro-German and defeatist propaganda through the medium of his publication, whose editor, Almeryde, died mysteriously in his cell last year while awaiting trial.

Duval's co-defendants were "underlings" on the paper, all charged with offences equivalent to "giving aid and comfort to the enemy." Some of them, notably Goldsky and Landau, made frequent trips to Switzerland, where they met German intermediaries, from whom they took large sums of money in payment for the propaganda.

Chops Off Toe to Enlist

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

Look years younger! Use the old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell spring has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease. —Advertisement.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

FRANCO-GERMAN PLAN TO FREE PRISONERS

By International News Service.

London, May 16.—Baron Newton, replying in the House of Lords today to inquiries by Lord Devonport with regard to the Franco-German agreement concerning the exchange of prisoners of war, repeated that the British government had only recently learned of the change in the French attitude regarding prisoners exchanged.

He said the most important clause in the Franco-German agreement was that soldiers and non-combatants are to be repatriated "head for head, grade for grade" provided they have been prisoners for eighteen months or more. Officers who have been prisoners for that period of time are to be interned in Switzerland regardless of rank.

Lord Newton said that Germany had not agreed that crews captured with unarmed merchantmen should be treated as civilians. This was a point, he added, which was the subject of an acute controversy between Germany and Great Britain and unless it were adjusted the admiralty was not prepared to allow German merchantmen's crews to leave England.

Under the Franco-German agreement, he said, civilians are to be repatriated regardless of sex. He concluded by saying that it was desirable that the allies should act jointly in such important matters, but that it was not incumbent on Great Britain to try to reach similar agreements with Germany.

Lord Newton said the number of British civilians who are prisoners in Germany is 3,759, including 2,689 seamen.

The number of German civilian prisoners in Britain, he said, was roughly 21,000.

GETS DIVORCE DESPITE DENIALS BY HIS WIFE

Despite the denial of Mrs. Laura E. Smart, of Boston, of statements made by her husband, John A. Smart, of Medford, before Judge Fox in the East Cambridge divorce court yesterday, he was granted a decree nisi as soon as her testimony was finished today. Mrs. Smart denied ever "going on the war path" with a hatchet, as described by her husband, and asserted that on one occasion he had beaten and choked her. Smart based his action on charges of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication.

DENT BILL PROVIDES CAMP WAR GARDENS

Washington, May 16.—A bill introduced by Chairman Dent of the House Military Committee proposes to permit soldiers in cantonments to till war gardens with War Department aid. A previous law, backed by agricultural interests, which prohibited camp gardens is to be repealed.

ARMY AIRPLANE HAS NUMEROUS INGREDIENTS

Portland, Ore., May 16.—Signal corps officers in charge of the huge spruce "cut up" plant here, built by Uncle Sam to help in the rush production of aeroplanes for use of the boys in Europe, answer the question readily. Aside from the engine, which may be a Liberty motor or some other kind, the average army aeroplane is made up of the following articles:

Nails, 4,326; screws, 3,377; steel stampings, 921; forgings, 788; turnbuckles, 276; veneer, 57 square feet; wire, 3,282 feet; varnish, 11 gallons; waterproofing dope, 59 gallons; aluminum, 65 pounds; rubber sheeting, 84 feet; linen, 201 square yards; spruce, 344 feet; pine, 55 feet; hickory, 1 foot; ash, 31 feet.

YOUTHS ARRANGED ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Joseph Ziems, eighteen, of Ipswich, and Joseph Lapper, sixteen, of Ipswich, were arraigned in Chelsea Court today charged with breaking and entering and the larceny of goods from the store of John Denton at No. 138 Crescent avenue, Chelsea. Ziems was held in $500 for the Grand Jury and Lapper was turned over to the Ipswich police. The former is on parole from the Shirley School and the latter on parole from the Lyman School.

WILSON TO SPEAK IN NEW YORK TO AID RED CROSS

New York, May 16.—President Wilson will open the Red Cross second war fund campaign in this city by an address in the Metropolitan Opera House on Saturday night. The Red Cross' campaign for $100,000,000 in the nation and $25,000,000 in New York does not officially open until Monday, May 20. It continues until May 27. The President's appearance here will come at the end of a gigantic preparation for the opening of the drive. The Red Cross parade, in which it is hoped 75,000 persons will march, will have terminated only an hour or so before the President begins his address here.

Only Free Baseball Can Be Played in the Navy

Commercialised Sunday baseball will not be tolerated by the Navy Department.

The following notice to that effect from the Navy Department was sent to Rear-Admiral S. S. Wood of the First Naval District and has also been sent to the commandants of all naval districts, all training stations, navy yards, and officers of all receiving ships:

"It is the policy of the Navy Department to encourage athletics at all naval stations ashore as well as through the fleet in every proper manner along the lines of athletic sport. This policy does not permit athletic contests at which gate receipts are received.

"Athletics should be not indulged in to such an extent as to interfere with proper military training of men or immediate availability for assignment to sea duty."

TIN DERBIES NOW POPULAR AT DEVENS

Boys Are Trying Out Part of Equipment to Be Used When They Go Over

By WILLIAM FLYNN.

Camp Devens, May 16.—After this week all hiking beyond the confines of the cantonment is expected to be discontinued until the General Staff school which commences on Monday and which is scheduled to run three weeks, closes. This is due to the fact that, practically all of the unit commanders will be attending the school and will have but little time for anything else.

Major-General Harry F. Hodges has returned from Washington after an extended conference with several high officials of the army, at which many important matters pertaining to the 76th Division were discussed. Most of his attention was devoted to the staff school and the General was unable to say when the division would be filled to its fighting strength.

Tin derbies are now the popular headgear of the men in the cantonment. They are included in overseas equipment that has been issued to several of the organizations quartered here, and the men are trying to get used to wearing them.

BATTERY WEARS BONNETS.

The metal bonnets were worn by the members of D Battery of the 301st Field Artillery in their maneuvers near Cranberry Pond today. The battery, with a full battalion detail and complete battery equipment, including the guns, spent the night under canvas close to the pond. The outfit was under the command of Major Herbert H. Vreeland, and officers and men were scheduled to return to the cantonment this afternoon.

The 301st sanitary train is also out of the cantonment on manoeuvres. Part of the train was stationed at Littleton today and another section was operating in Shirley.

It was made known here today that the trial of the twenty conscientious objectors who refused to obey an order from their commanding officer has been postponed pending instructions from Washington.

Major-General Hodges is to address all of the candidates at the fourth officers' training camp in the Liberty Theatre tomorrow to impress upon them the seriousness of the career upon which they are about to embark and what will be expected of them as officers in the United States army. Three hundred and fifty-four college men from twenty colleges selected as candidates to attend the camp had reached here up to today, and more are expected.

COLLEGE CANDIDATES.

The number of candidates from each of the colleges to date is as follows: Harvard, 71; Yale, 57; University of Maine, 30; Williams, 29; New York Military Academy, 24; Amherst, 22; Massachusetts Agricultural, 29; Brown, 18; Bowdoin, 15; University of Vermont, 12; Union (Ny), 12; Technology, 11; Norwich, 8; Rhode Island State, 7; New Hampshire State, 5; Dartmouth, 5; Hamilton (Ny), 4; Wesleyan, 1; Connecticut Agricultural, 1; and University of California, 1.

One of the college candidates from M. I. T. is G. H. Burrows, son of F. W. Burrows of Newton, who has already been decorated with the French war cross for distinguished service abroad. Burrows was a member of the French ambulance corps, and was later transferred into one of the French supply trains. He received the decoration for driving an ambulance through a barrage fire in the Champagne sector. He had only been back to this country a week when he applied to the faculty at Tech, which he attended for a year, and was sent to the cantonment as one of the institute's candidates.

MAKING COLORED OFFICERS.

Sixteen of the colored draftees, who recently came to this cantonment, have been selected to attend the colored artillery officers' training camp at Camp Meade. These men were weeded out at the request of the War Department owing to the scarcity of available colored officer material.

One of the latest alleged draft evaders is Angelo Armento, a Mexican acrobat, who claims Los Angeles as his home, but who was arrested at the close of one of the performances at a theatre in Providence. Armento, it is evident, failed to file answers to a questionnaire with his local board and was arrested by the military authorities and brought to this cantonment. He is now a member of the Depot Brigade.

Private Fred A. Rayno was also brought here as a deserter from F. Battery of the 326th Field Artillery, stationed at Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga. Rayno was arrested in Hillsboro, N. H., and brought to this cantonment by the sheriff of Merrimac County, who received the reward for his capture. He was later sent to Camp Gordon under guard.

Where Is the Service Flag With the Most Stars?

WHOSE SERVICE FLAG flies banner group of stars? The glorious Service Flags meet the eye on every side throughout Boston and New England.

The stars tell the number of soldiers who have gone to war from the home, store, college, factory or whatever place is flying the flag.

Some homes proudly display four or five stars on their Service Flags. Large corporations, like railroads and big manufacturing industries, fly Service Flags with hundreds of stars.

The Boston AMERICAN would like to hear about the Service Flags with the greatest number of stars.

For convenience the Service Flags may be divided into groups, as follows:

1. Family (individual homes).
2. Church (including Sunday schools).
3. Society and institutional (fraternal organizations, unions, colleges, schools, etc.).
4. Business (stores, corporations, manufacturing plants).

Please make your letters brief and specific. Address Banner Star Editor, Boston AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer street, Boston.

EDITORIAL

It would be better if many of the local draft boards in New England learned more of the military procedure at Camp Devens and other cantonments to which they send men. A little more co-operation with the army officials would lessen a great deal of unnecessary paper work and save valuable time.

Of late, several draft boards have made a practice of sending draft evaders and other draftees destined to take the places of men discharged from the service, to Camp Devens at all hours of the night, and as a result the the official military machinery has been needlessly hampered.

The soldiers' working day at Devens closes at retreat and it is manifestly unfair to the officers and men in the receiving station to make them work far into the night to straighten out thoughtless work of draft boards.

WAIT OFFICIAL ORDERS FOR TRANSFER

Moving of Boston Section from the Receiving Ship Not Yet Decided Upon

By S. HARRY FERRIS.

Aboard the Receiving Ship at Boston, May 16.—The work performed by the Boston Section is one of the most important of any connected with the ship. To it is assigned the duty of patrolling the harbor, guarding foreign ships from the time of arrival until they depart, and the carrying out of the numerous and intricate government regulations pertaining to sea-borne traffic in war time.

Sometime ago it was announced that the headquarters of the section, which is not entirely satisfactory, were to be transferred to East Boston, and it was understood that the pay master was to move his office from the Navy Yard to the vacated quarters.

Whether this arrangement will be carried out now seems uncertain. Announcement was made from the office of the commandant of the First Naval District, in the Little Building, Wednesday, that Admiral Spencer S. Wood knows nothing of any intention to make such a change, and it was stated that he would know if such a move was in prospect.

The baseball season is now fully under way at the ship, and wherever a knot of sailors are seen it is pretty certain that they are discussing the merits of rival teams and diamond stars.

The second game in the inter-divisional league is played today at the D street playground in South Boston, and every pleasant day hereafter until Fall there will be a contest on between nines from the ship. "Slim" Murch, the old New England league star, is in charge of the games.

The U. S. S. Stringham, under command of Lieutenant-Commander Nichols, formerly of the U. S. S. Winslow, has one of the liviest bunches of sportsmen on the ship. Today the Stringham nine plays the team of the U. S. S. Bell at the Harvard Stadium. A week ago they defeated the same team.

Plans are now under way for the Stringham rifle team of eight expert marksmen to meet a similar team from Camp Plunkett in a match at the Wakefield Range next week. The Stringham has qualified more expert riflemen than any other ship detail that has visited Wakefield.

The receiving ship has one of the most expert movie operators in the country in Edward A. Watson, a veteran first class. He was born in England, lived many years in Boston, and has travelled all over the United States throwing pictures on the screen.

DEVENS SOLDIERS IN PARADE AT FITCHBURG

Fitchburg, May 16.—Detachments from the 303d Infantry and machine gun companies at Camp Devens will participate in the big Red Cross parade here Saturday. The 303d Infantry Band and the Fitchburg Military Band will also march in the parade.

Red Cross workers, Spanish War Veterans, Boy and Girl Scouts, Women's Relief Corps, Italian Children's Club and mothers and wives of Fitchburg men in the service will be in the parade.

MANSFIELD PRIVATE HERO OF LAKE RESCUE

Lakewood, N. J., May 16.—A canoe upsetting on Lake Carasalio, caused the death of Noah H. Dowling of Lawrence, Kansas, a private in the Medical Corps. Homer D. Grimm, a private from the Medical Corps, of Mount Carroll, Ill., was rescued by Private William Packard, of Mansfield, Mass., invalided here from France. Packard swam 500 yards to save Grimm. Packard dived to locate Dowling but failed. The body was recovered.

RECEPTION IN NEWTON TO AVIATOR WELLMAN

William Wellman, member of the Lafayette Escadrille, who recently arrived in Boston after several months' service in France, was given a reception by Newton Highlands friends in Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands. Wellman formerly lived in that town. The affair was staged under the joint auspices of the Men's League of the Congregational Church and the Men's Club of St. Paul's Church.

TRIES TO TAKE PET CAT ALONG TO FIGHT

Harold Collingsworth of Kennebunkport, Me., brought in to the mining corps recruiting station, No. 22 Tremont row, today, a kitten which he had carried all the way from his home as a sign o' good luck.

When Examining Surgeon Dr. W. Randolph Angell asked what he was going to do with the cat, Collingsworth replied:

"It's this way, doctor. I wouldn't part with that kitten. It has brought me more luck than anything else. Can't I take it with me?"

He was rejected on account of the cat.

Honor Flag Unfurled

Fitchburg, May 16.—The Honor Flag, awarded to Fitchburg for exceeding by $889,100 its Third Liberty Loan quota of $1,889,100, has been unfurled at City Hall.

LEATHER OUTPUT TURNED OVER TO U. S. FORCES

Atlantic City, N. J., May 16.—Virtually all the sole and harness leather output of this country is being turned over to our fighting forces, according to speakers at the national convention of leather manufacturers.

Consumption is estimated at 750,000 hends of sole leather each month and it was predicted that this will increase when manufacture of the new "Pershing" shoe adopted by the army is begun. The new foot gear will cost twice as much as the present army shoes. It will be hobnailed instead of sewed.

V. A. Wallin, president of the National Association, urged the tanners to do their utmost to speed up production for the Government.

ARGUMENT LANDS BOY BACK IN CAMP

In the South Boston Court Albert Myers and his stepson, Joseph J. Harmeth, were arraigned on charges of mutual assault and battery. They were each found not guilty. Harmeth was recently signed up to fight for Uncle Sam, but it is alleged by his stepfather that he did not like the job and on being given a furlough discarded his uniform. His stepfather pleaded with him to don his uniform and report at Camp Devens. Patrolman Roach happened along and thought both were fighting and locked them up. When Myers told his story Judge Day discharged both men. An officer from Camp Devens took Harmeth to Ayer.

Women Find Clear Skin In Simple Laxative

A sense of false modesty often prevents women from admitting that many of her ills and disorders are due primarily to constipation.

But women who know themselves have learned that headache remedies and beautifiers only cover the trouble, but do not dislodge it.

What is needed is a remedy to move the bowels and stir up the torpid liver. An ever-increasing number of sensible women take a small dose of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold by druggists under that name.

It will save a woman from the habitual use of headache remedies, skin lotions and similar makeshifts. Once the bowels are emptied and regulated, the headache and the pimples and blotches disappear. It is the rational, natural method.

A bottle of Syrup Pepsin lasts a family a long time, and all will find use for it from time to time. Thoughtful people are never without it in the house.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

NO INCREASE. In spite of enormous cost of paper, labor and other manufacturers, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are sacrificing their profits and absorbing the war taxes, so that this family laxative may remain at the present low price of 50c. and $1. Buy it today from your druggist or send to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 505 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. If you have babies in the family send for a copy of "The Care of the Baby."

Dr. Caldwell's SYRUP PEPSIN The Perfect Laxative

FREE SAMPLES. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in America. If you have never used it, send your address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 505 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. If you have babies in the family send for a copy of "The Care of the Baby."

To the People of Metropolitan Boston

The casualty reports bring this great war and its deep meaning home to us all.

Therefore, we ask your support of the SECOND RED CROSS WAR FUND, not as a charity but as a patriotic duty.

The Red Cross needs a second fund of $100,000,000, every penny of which will be spent for WAR RELIEF.

This committee has been organized to help raise the $3,000,000 allotted to Metropolitan Boston.

The campaign opens Monday, May 20.

The Red Cross is working with and for "our boys" over there. As their number increases, the need increases. We MUST supply this need—AND WITH YOUR HELP WE WILL.

Why my filmiest curtains never tear in the laundry

I USED to hang my dainty new curtains with a sigh, dreading from the beginning the ominous day when they would have to be spoiled in the laundry.

Now I never give them a thought—I have fougd how easy it is to keep them always fresh and new.

I wash them the modern way in pure Lux suds, and with no rubbing. The dainty Lux flakes dissolve instantly in hot water and whip up into rich, pure suds. I souse the sheer ivory curtains in the foamy lather—gently squeeze the cleansing Lux suds through them again and again, then take them out so clean and fresh, with not a thread broken.

With Lux there is none of that old-time rubbing to break and tear the sheer material—there are no particles of undissolved soap to cling to the delicate threads through all the rinsings, and, coarsen and yellow them.

Try Lux for your laciest curtains—for your fragile laces and finest table linen. See for yourself how simple it is to keep them white and pure. Your grocer, druggist or department store has Lux. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

How to wash fine curtains

§ Shake the dust carefully out of the curtains, then let them soak in clean, cold water for an hour to loosen the dirt.

Use a tablespoonful of Lux to a gallon of water. Dissolve by boiling or very hot water, and whisk into a thick lather. Put the curtains in and souse thoroughly. Squeeze the suds through the fabric. Do not rub. Rinse three times in cool, hot water, and dry in the sun.

Silk and Colored Curtains should not be soaked. Wet in cold water, then wash quickly in lukewarm suds, rinse three times in clear, lukewarm water, and dry in the shade.

Use Lux for anything that pure water alone won't injure

TIRES OF TODAY SUPERIOR TO OLD TYPE

Work and Quality Better, and Prices Are Way Below Former Standards

By C. F. DONNOCKER.

In commenting on the recent increase in cost of tires, an official of the United States Tire Company says:

"Despite the fact that automobile tires have recently increased 10 per cent. in price because of war conditions, the United States Tire Company points out that these high war-time prices are substantially less than tire users paid eight or nine years ago for tires which were in construction and materials much inferior to the tires of today.

"The records of the United States Tire Company show that in 1916 the company's plain-tread tire, size 34x4, which is the standard of comparison for tire prices, cost the consumer $48.30, and that the same style of tire reaches the consumer today for $33.05.

"The improvements in tire construction have taken place along three essential lines; material, the preparatory treatment of the materials, and the process by which the treated materials are brought together into the final product.

"The materials which enter into the construction of plain-tread tires are rubber-compounding ingredients and cotton fabrics. The rubber—especially plantation rubber—is coming on the market in a much more uniform condition, which makes it possible for manufacturers to turn out a tire of more uniform quality."

EXPECT 12,000 IN RED CROSS PARADE

Plans for Monster Demonstration in Boston on Saturday Nearing Completion

Plans for the monster Red Cross parade through the business section of Boston next Saturday afternoon were nearly completed today. The parade will usher in Red Cross Week, in which it is planned to raise a hundred million dollars throughout the nation.

It is expected that 12,000 persons will march in the parade, which will be reviewed by Governor Samuel W. McCall at the State House, Mayor Andrew J. Peters at City Hall, and by Chief Marshal Allston Burr and staff at Park square.

The parade will start at 2 p. m. from Newbury and Arlington streets, and will cover the following route:

Arlington to Beacon street, to School, to Washington, to Boylston, to Tremont, to Boylston street, to Park square, to Columbus avenue—disbanding between Columbus avenue and Berkeley street.

The chief marshal's headquarters will be stationed at Newbury and Arlington streets at 1.15 on the day of the parade.

MASON IS MARSHAL.

The first division of the parade will be in charge of Marshal Charles E. Mason, and will consist of Red Cross nurses and the headquarters staff, which will form on Newbury street, right resting near Arlington street.

Division 2 will be composed of adult members of the Red Cross in the following groups: (1) Units of foreign-born members in alphabetical order of nationality; (2) United States units; (3) Retail Trades; and of the Junior Red Cross members of the Boston Chapter headed by Frank V. Thompson, assistant superintendent of schools, marshal of the Public School division; (2) Private Schools; (3) Parochial Schools.

This division will form on Newbury street with its right resting on Clarendon street.

The third division, Kenneth B. Murdock as marshal, will be made up of the branches of Boston Metropolitan Chapter in alphabetical order. Section A will consist of branches from Allston-Brighton to Milton (inclusive), and Section B, branches from Newton to Woburn (inclusive). Section A forms on Commonwealth avenue, south side, right resting on Arlington street, and Section B on Commonwealth avenue, south side, right resting on Dartmouth street, in rear of Section A.

The 4th Division, with General Dwight Fullerton as marshal, is composed of auxiliaries of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter and forms on the north side of Commonwealth avenue, right resting on Arlington street.

The 5th Division, with Mrs. Odin Roberts as marshal, includes the Women's Motor Corps, fifty automobiles in line, forming on Marlboro street, right resting on Arlington street.

AMBULANCE IN PARADE.

The only Red Cross ambulance of the style in actual use in France will be driven in the Parade by Mrs. George R. Johnson of the Hotel Somerset. Miss Katherine Field of Brockton will drive a light truck loaded with Red Cross supplies, surgical dressings and knitted articles.

More than twenty brass bands are expected to be in line under the direction of Benjamin F. Tweed.

An honorary staff of army and navy officers will review the parade from the Governor's stand. The chief of staff in charge of the parade will be General Hugh Bancroft.

In the Cambridge division will be Colonel Azan and Lieutenant Morise, the two French army officers now acting as instructors of the R. O. T. C. at Harvard University. Major Ewing, commanding the Harvard R. O. T. C., and Lieutenant Commander Nathaniel Ayer of the Harvard Radio School will also appear in the Cambridge division of the parade under the Harvard insignia.

1,000 FROM DORCHESTER.

Fifteen hundred members of the Dorchester Branch of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter will march in the third division.

The Dorchester Branch will be headed by an automobile containing the branch officials, Edgar W. Hearty, chairman; Mrs. Horace Jacobs, vice-chairman; William Hall, treasurer; Mrs. Robinson Pierce, secretary; Mrs. R. D. Foster, chairman, and Mrs. James Curtis, vice-chairman of the parade.

Following the automobile will march regular workers of the Dorchester High School, with a spread American flag. The first of the six floats which the Dorchester Branch will have in line will have a group of knitters, with Uncle Sam, a soldier and sailor, a Red Cross nurse, and a Boy and Girl Scout, with Mrs. Walter A. Dyer, chairman of the Liberty Knitting Unit, in charge. Next will come the Dorchester High School Fife and Drum Corps, 50 strong, with 1,000 of the Dorchester High Cadets in uniform. Two floats of Surgical Dressings workers follow. Mrs. Blanche Richardson, vice-chairman of the Alpha Unit, will be in charge of the first, and Mrs. Benjamin Buckley, chairman of the Baker Memorial Unit, will be in charge of the second.

The gymnasium girls of the Dorchester High School Junior Red Cross Auxiliary will march 100 per cent. strong, costumed in red, white and blue. Another float of surgical dressings workers will be in charge of Miss Marion Decrow, chairman of the surgical department of the community workers. The sewing department will have a float in charge of Mrs. Henry S. Dean, chairman of the community workers. The last float will be that of the packing department, in charge of several units.

Major John J. Dwyer will be the marshal of the Dorchester branch.

Miss Alice W. Homer will be the parade leader. Miss Ida F. Robbins is in charge of parade arrangements.

"What Shall I Read?"

It Is Like Asking, "What Tree in the Forest Shall I Admire?"
A Reading Program Should Mean a Map of the Road Through Life

Copyright, 1918, by the Star Company.

"I want to write and think. What shall I read?" a thousand young people ask. You might give a thousand answers, all useful.

Thinking is to the mind what exercise is to the body.

Reading is to the brain what eating is to the body.

If you eat too much and exercise too little you will have physical dyspepsia. If you read too much and think too little, dyspepsia of the mind will result.

The every-day American mind is starved for lack of reading, and the exceptional American has mental dyspepsia from over-reading.

You could read comfortably in six months all that Shakespeare ever read in the way of serious books—leaving out his daily reading of plays, etc.

You could read in six weeks more than Abraham Lincoln ever read in the way of serious books.

Shakespeare was the greatest of all writers. He read enough, he thought always. Ninety-nine one-hundredths came out of his imagination.

Lincoln was an admirable writer. He read enough to be inspired for the work that he was to do.

If he had known more about slavery, more about the differences between races and more about war, he might not have won for the North.

What should you read? The answer is the doctor's answer: ALL THAT YOU CAN DIGEST and no more, and only that which is good. Here are haphazard suggestions, dictated in Mr. MacAdoo's fastest train to Chicago.

To learn simple writing, read Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress." Learn that the humble, sincere mind, locked in a prison, can write that which has outlived the writings of thousands highly educated.

Read Sterne's "Sentimental Journey"—the most beautiful English prose ever written.

Read the Bible, Job and Isaiah especially, for magnificent writing.

Read Voltaire's "History of Charles XII." and learn how a great story can be written completely in few words.

Read Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus"—another kind of beautiful writing. Parts of it will annoy you. Teufelsdroch's description of sleep in it is most beautiful.

It is not possible to map out a perfect course of reading.

No matter who or what you read, you are compelled to read too much of it. Literature and all writing need a skilled butcher to select the best parts.

A man that has read steadily every day of his life for more than thirty years finds himself past fifty at the very beginning of what he should read and know—before pretending to write for others.

You should read Dante's "Inferno" for the violent imaginative power. Homer, Dante and Shakespeare are the three greatest writers thus far.

You should read Homer for beautiful simplicity of thought.

You should read "Don Quixote" for humor. His description of the Knight of the Mirrors fits Roosevelt to a T. R.

You should read half a dozen comedies of Moliere and La Fontaine's Fables, two or three of Corneille's best tragedies, all of Shakespeare, and read it all at least a dozen times.

You should read the early English poets.

You should read a volume or two of Voltaire's "Philosophical Dictionary," to teach your mind agility. Read his "Zadig," and see a great brain at play.

Read the poems of Keats and Shelley—the world is more beautiful when you know them.

You should read always to the day you die. Study astronomy as you grow older, study and explore the universe, eternal justice forever ruling over it.

You may read little, and if you have it IN you, be as great as Shakespeare.

You may read much less and, if you have it IN you, be as useful as Abraham Lincoln.

Whether you read much or little, THINK.

And you must act upon your thought. Translate thought into action, mental or physical.

No one cares how much water a sponge can suck up.

What your brain gives out counts, not what it takes in.

TALKING OVER THE WAR AT HOME

In every family nowadays the members should get together sometime and exchange ideas concerning the war and the necessity for loyalty to the country.

The children should be encouraged to ask questions, and their opinions concerning different phases of the struggle drawn out and their mistakes corrected.

American history should be read to the children.

There should be ample explanation, and it cannot be done too thoroughly.

Some parents look upon study and discussion of this kind as of little value, and this very fact has been a means of unpreparedness which has already shown its effect in the indifference of some young persons.

Always there is need of knowledge as to one's country and how best to serve her interests; but now it is doubly necessary that patriotism be taught.

As American mothers and fathers we have been too lax in this matter.

Start tonight.

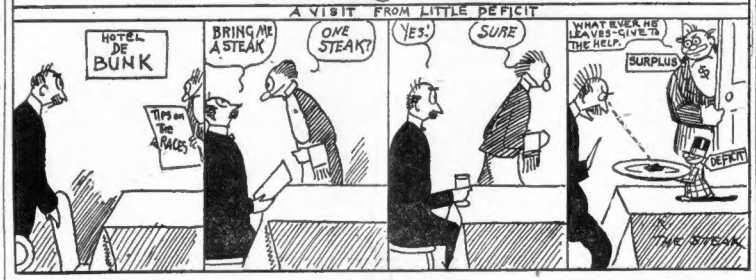
A VISIT FROM LITTLE DEFICIT



His Place in the Sun

RING BELLS JOYFULLY THROUGH LIFE

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

I READ the following very nice sentence in a book the other day, and I immediately decided to enclose it in quotation marks and pass it along for others to enjoy.

"If there is any way we can find to make life a little better, a little gentler, a little kinder, we will try to find that way."

There is always a large majority of people who are engaged in trying to make life better. They have very definite ideas about what is right for others, and what is wrong; especially, what is wrong. For in their opinions almost everything that other people enjoy comes within that category.

But there is a painfully small minority who are at all interested in making life gentler and kinder. It is so much easier to point out the faults and failings of others than it is to commend them for their struggles and their good qualities.

Most of us were taught when we were children that the world was divided in two classes—the good people and the bad people. The good people were very correct. They were always at all church services, and they were very severe and solemn, and they seemed to the eyes of childhood to walk in a sort of chilling and aloof silence. The bad people were those who did obviously wrong things. They did not go to church, but some of them went to prison, and some flourished like the green bay tree, and they had a sort of fearful fascination for the imagination of childhood.

Age's Discoveries

Then as we grew older we met all sorts of queer contradictions. The good people were often anything but kind and gentle. They were harsh and censorious in their judgment of others. They were avaricious and selfish and narrow-minded and often cruel. And the bad people frequently exhibited more kind and generous and lovely traits than appeared compatible with thoroughgoing badness.

It seemed such a topsy-turvy world, where the good were so often bad, and the bad were so often good, that it compelled a revision of judgment. But it takes time and experience to realize that there are really no thoroughly good people and no thoroughly bad ones. We're all very much alike when you sift us down.

My first great realization of this was rather dramatic. I was once very ill in a spot far from railroads, doctors and nurses. The only person who could be secured to take care of me was a horrible old woman who drank whiskey all the time and gave me very scant attention. Then the only other woman resident, who was considered a very bad person indeed, heard of my plight and walked in and took charge of the case.

Guardian Angel

She stayed with me night and day. She was a born nurse, and I dimly realized the comfort of this new and soothing presence. Sometimes when I saw her through the mists of fever I thought she was an angel; and so she was. She had merely mistaken her identity, and had harbored the delusion that she was beyond the pale, when in her true self, the real self that she had never discovered, she was a ministering angel.

There is one little thing every one can always do, and that is to add to the general fund of happiness, of gentleness and kindness. It costs so little, and it is a debt one owes to the world.

THE WOMAN'S LAND ARMY IN ENGLAND

"Never forget that you are doing National Service, and therefore set yourself a high standard of work," is the British government's advice to applicants for service in the Woman's Land Army.

"Do not be discontented if you are found fault with or put to work that you do not like. Think of the men in the trenches and on the sea, and of what they have to do. They do not disobey their officers, or shirk their duty. Make the most of your chance and be worthy of the trust that has been placed in you."

CELESTIAL MAPS ARE HARD TO FIND

By Garrett P. Serviss

THE most brilliant architectural vision in Washington, and one of the most dazzling that I have ever seen anywhere, is the interior of the new Congressional Library at night. The collection of books is so enormous and the arrangement and management of the great library are so admirable that one would expect that nothing in the nature of a book or a chart could be missing or unattainable there. Yet, hear my experience.

Wishing to know the aspect of the starry sky at a particular hour on a certain date, I most confidently went to the Congressional Library and asked for a celestial planisphere. If I had asked for a chart of Rome in the days of the Caesars I could have had it, but the map that I wanted of the sparkling, unperishing heavens could not be found.

Even after the officials had very obligingly permitted me to accompany an attendant in his search among the stacks, the fact remained uncontradicted that in this gigantic treasure-house of knowledge a citizen of the universe (which every one of us is, whether consciously or not) could obtain no information about the bearings of the lighthouses of the interstellar deep.

Not in Use

There was a planisphere named in the catalogue, but all that could be found on the shelves was an illegible, unusable and all but microscopic reproduction of it by some cheap photographic process.

Finally I was referred to the naval observatory in the outskirts of Washington, apparently on the assumption that that was the most likely place for such astronomical curiosities to be preserved. As we have sent no ambassador to Mars yet, Congress has no use for such things.

I had a similar experience with regard to the celebrated celestial atlas of Flamsteed; it was in the catalogue, but "not on the shelf." An attendant suggested that it might be "in one of the departments," but seemingly he was not quite certain which one of the government departments would be most likely to hold possession of an old atlas of the skies, whose chief interest at the present day resides in the beautiful constellation figures that Albrecht Durer drew for it. If some department clerk has fallen in love with "Andromeda" in her chains, that may explain why the almost greatest of all libraries cannot show Flamsteed's atlas.

Need of Astronomy

Behind these experiences I read a lesson. It is that the people of the United States need an education in astronomy. There would be no lack of planispheres in the Congressional Library and no unexplained absences of star charts from its shelves if American schools taught astronomy as they ought to teach it.

It is not the fault of the people; they are eager enough for knowledge about the universe around them, which lifts their minds above the petty annoyances of terrestrial existence, but it is the fault of those who shape our educational systems.

Astronomy is a science that excites the imagination to its noblest efforts; and to implant a love for it there is required an inspiring method of teaching. When you speak of a star the imagination is aroused and should be encouraged instead of having its wings broken.

Subject Not Attractive

Many persons are in the habit of saying how much they regret that they were not taught astronomy when they were at school. But closer inquiry often brings out the fact that some astronomy really was taught to them, or at them, but in a manner so unattractive that it failed to fix their attention. No enthusiasm was aroused in their minds toward the subject, although intellectual enthusiasm is of the very essence of astronomical teaching.

You cannot teach astronomy as you would bookkeeping or other "practical" subjects by the knowledge of which great numbers of men and women make a living, or arrive at fortune. With those studies the end makes the means endurable, at least, if not attractive.
